Stockholders will please make prompt payment at the office of Messrs. Theo. It has undersigned will expose the form of his inthe simple permission to pass along the road. We sold our clothes and pawned whatever we could pawn, including our wedding rings, and in this way reached our station at Lucheng safe, but strip-

Lucheng had not yet been rioted, but only two days' peace was allowed us when, with the friends there, we had THE BOOKS OF THIS COMPANY to flee for our lives at midnight with nothing but one donkey load of bedding and clothes, and a supply of silver which we divided up among the party. Which direction to take we did not know. To go north again was out of the question, and eastward to Shantung was equally impossible, so we made for the south, hoping to get through Honan and Hupch to Hankow. But we had only got 40 li from Lucheng when we were stopped at a large village by some two hundred peowho demanded money. We could not satisfy them, so they seized our donkey, and in sheer wanton mischief tore all our bedding and clothing to pieces. They they stripped us next, shares Walmanalo Sugar EWA PLANTATION COMPANY, taking each person's clothes, hat, shoes and stockings, and little store of silver, leaving us nothing, ladies and children alike, but one pair of native drawers each. In this affair we lost the natives who were accompanying us, some of whom we fear were killed, while we were driven along the road with clubs. It was a terrible situation. The blazing sun burned us to the bone, and some of us had not so much as a little piece of rag to wet and put on the top of our heads. At every village we were at-tacked and driven from one to the other with blows and curses. The villages there are very thick, and before we got clear of the mob from one, the mob from the next had already arrived to take us in hand. Neither food nor water could be obtained. How we contrived to exist we hardly know; for days our only support was found in the filthy puddles by the roadside. When we reached a city it was a little better.

Apparently each magistrate was anxlous that we should come to our end in the next county, so when we went to the yamen they would give us a little food and send an escort to see us safely over the borders of that particular yamen's jurisdiction. Arrived at that point, the escort always left us, and we had to struggle on as before.

Miss Rice was killed on the road fifty Il north of Tsechaufu in Shansi. That day both she and Miss Houston sat down on the roadside saying they would willingly die, but walk another step they could not. In the previous city the magistrate had given us a small plece of sliver which we had to carry in our hand having nowhere else to put it. We thought we might be able to hire a cart for these ladies with this plece of silver, so two of us went to a village to negotiate. The villagers refused the cart, but at the same time they pounded our knuckles with a stick till we dropped the silver, and then drove us down the road away from our party. Just then it began to rain and the party, with the exception of the two
